The spanish Ontoreak, The insurrenction which broke not last Wed- 1 0118CS. nealay in Spain has been expected by intelligent bservers from the day that the Progressian naviv determined to withdraw from constitutional Retion. No one supposed that the leaders of that great party intended by their resolution to renames every kind of narticipation in the political affairs of their country, thus lanving the field in the undisputed possession of their advorsaries. an lib could only be inferred that they meant to wait for an opportunity of making their nower felt in some irregular way. The blegrams of the last three days have told on that the hoor of action has strick; and they tell us very little more. The Queen's Government is not hound to permit the collection and publication at the carbial of intelligence calculated to encourage the hones and stimulate the activity of the disaffacted, nor to allow the degree of its peril to become known abroad. Thus we cannot regannably tely on the ecourage of its nublished statements. The seriousness of the insurrection may, however, he inferred with more or loss probability from the steps which the Givernment has thought proper to take, and from the language, of its Ministers n'the Cortes, which are in wearinn. All the independent newspapers of Madrid have been seized and respended. The capital is in a state of stege. The clubs, including those frequented by supporters of the Government, have been closed, and the inne and eases havebeen placed under laspen-O'Donnall, has declared in the Senate that " the circumstances of the military revolt are perious and that " a vaste mapirocy exists, having its ramifications throughout Spain." Marchal O'Donrall honord, as it was his duty to hope that the namerection would be at an end within two days. hat in fact, it will to-day he's week'al t. Sunposing the materials of a revolution to exist. Spain, the time which has clapsed has been gain. ed by the revolutionists at the expense of the Go vornment. A simultaneous movement of the care risons and the great towns of the kingdom would have affirded batter exidence of the extensive organisation of which Maraba O'Donnell bas spoken; but if it is truly, shited that 40,000] workmen at Barcelona are ready to take up arms the news that a movement had notually begun grounds situated next the residence of Captain would no doubt decide thim to take part in it. General Prim is stated to he at the hald of the Pookfoolum Roads on Inland Lat Nov. 767, Por military revolt. He is a man of chivalrous during. terms apply to Mr. Taus, M. Baranoros, 36. and copular with a portion of the army. Hot there Wandham Parcot is the contract to are filters in he Spanish symy whose paynes would have afforded a better guarantee of soundness, of judgment and maturity of courdita then his. A TTO LET. GRANITE GODOWNS, abrent of Ustalonian by brith, he has, during a public sarcer of thirty-three years, experienced the violesitudes of fortune-now promoted for his services | nam be indened and discharged to the Grown, then elected by Barcelona as a patriot, and soon after denounced by the people as a traitor. Tyrine he has been recalled from exile by election to the Cortes, and three years ago be was commanding a Spanise array on foreign service. His title, Chant, de Reus, commemorates a successful prouncingiente, of which he was the author, and which was made at has birtholace, the town of that name, It is impossible to judge whether the means of success are this time within his reach. Marries O'Donnell, himself a ognapirator, bas a knack of stamping out insurrections, as Madrid, Burcolons, Saragisas, and a number of smaller, towns learned by experience in 1856, and if be can only keep the army well in hand, there is very little occupied by Gol; Jonner - Possession can be had dentit that he will do so again. If we may gradit the details I statements put forward by the Spanish Government, only two inoquiplets cavalry regiments, numbering six hundred men, stationed a Aranjuez and Ocura, and three hundred men o the garrison of tvila, have at present joined the insurrection. But this representation does not ! ogree with that which Marshal O'Ponnell has made to the Chamber, and unless that. Minister had some political motive for exaggerating the importance of the movement, it would seem that more than nine hundred men of the army must love taken part in it. In these siroumetances all we can do is to wait and gither up the results of the intelligence day by day. There is nothing to hinder us from doing so with perfect patience, Neither hones nor fears, neither sympathies nor aversions, much muchie the consulmity of Englistingen when they think of the parties, the polites, and the revolutions of Spain, Libera Burnee has a saisted at too many revolutions is that kingdom, and too often seen the gavernments: harn of them faithfully copy the vices of their oredecessors, to take much interest in military pavolte. General Prim is undoubtedly a soldlei of the Liberal party, and there is much in his publie career and personal character to admire. But we do not know the complexion and hims of the movement he has in hand. The time has gone by when Englishmen hald that in every incurrection its notion.—(Daily Nows.) Last month thirty newspapers at Madrid, and sixty in the provinces, were neighboring a revolu- lat day of January next. tion which the official ergan still declared immesible, adding that it would welcome any numher of special correspondents from London to ascortain the exact truth. As is commontary, W. have had a military pronunciamiento, a general in arms against his Savareign -the Queen intensely unpopular-the Court namends in the sight the aution-remours of assessination-in faity treasonable plats in the Royal barracks. It not necessary to conclude, however, that this outbreak is personally directed against the Quoen. We have not witnessed, indeed, since her agesssion, a dec'ared revolt against the Second Lany bella; hut there has grown up a Separatist movement in certain of the Spanish provinces, the Northern especially. Now, the Spanish provinces: in their ideas and notions, are generally very independent of Mudrid, a faut which accounts for so many insurrections of late years hat initiated in the capital. They live and work by themselves, they have never more than once or twice in the history of the Spanish people submitted to the metropolitan supremucy; but they resent maisdministration whencesoever it comes i and it was a resentment of this kind, caused by an extr vagant and reakless imposition of taxes that caused the electors of Navarre, Macatrazzo, and Upper Ontdparty, who, strange though it be, nid and dissuade the man who call themselves "men of progress." from violent and even mennoing agitation. At Barcelona there has artually been a public and and commanding the whole view of the barbor unrepressed talk of secession. Arragon has and town, and delightfully situated behind the threatened to follow the esdetious example. There | Albany Southward of Mr W. H. Alexander's rewas last month a Carlist riot at Bargos, with a sidence Democratio rios at Malaga. Neverthalees, those towns and districts are not proverbially disloyal If we are asked, what is to be inferred from all othis, the chief organ of opinion in Madrid pretty plainly answers us. It says that the Government of Madrid, while separating itself from the old polities of the Spanish monarchy, has chalenged a war to the knile with the extreme parties to its right and to its left; that it intrigues between the palace and the confessional; that i misemplays and disguets the army; that the treasury of the kirgdom is empty; that borrowed inoney is wasted upon wanton expeditions; and clint Spain, which has so often disconcerted the intelligence of Europe, is now about to disconcert it more than ever. This is a slightly cynical, although suggestive view of the orisis already stained with blood; but, while wanting for a better knowledge of the circumstances, our regret for Spain must be that she is thus maltreated; to her own minery, by her detectable factions; while rate terms. our hope is that, in her attempt to escape them. the will not enjoy "the sad success" of a revolution which may ruin instead of reforming the sinte, and leave her blindfold to begin another the prosumption was in favour of the insurgants

In this case presumption is definity against the nurly which chatinately declined to show itself at the polling-booths, preferring to bring about an insursection. We can only hone that the out-bloodshed, and that, whichever party may win,

Spain will be the freer and botter governed
